

Nixon Meets With Mao, Chou

HONOR GUARD REVIEW — President Nixon and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai (L) review honor guard

PEKING (UPI) — President Nixon initiated his mission to China today with an unscheduled talk with Mao Tse-tung and an exchange of public pledges with Chou En-lai to work toward restoring friendship between the two nations.

In response to a banquet toast by Chou, Nixon declared, "Let us in these next five days start a long march together, not in locked step, but on different roads leading to the same goal—a goal leading to peace and justice in which all may stand together in peace and dignity."

Of the 20-year alienation of the two governments, the President said: "There is no reason for us to be enemies. Neither of us seeks domination of the other. Neither of us wants to dominate the other."

In his welcome, Chou asserted that "The gate of contact has been opened" and voiced willingness to work with Nixon in establishing normal relationships between the two.

Chou and Nixon held three discussions together prior to the banquet in the labyrinthian Great Hall of the People in the center of Peking, some eight hours after the President's arrival. Chou met him at the bottom of the ramp to the Nixon jet but the arrival was subdued and sparsely attended.

Nixon said: "This is the hour, this is the day for our two peoples to rise to the heights of greatness which can build a new and better world. And in that spirit, I ask all of you present to join me in raising your glasses to Chairman Mao, Prime Minister Chou and to friendship of the Chinese and American people which can lead to friendship of all the people in the world."

In lighter vein, the President praised the music played by a large Chinese ensemble which at one point rendered "Home on the Range" and struck up "America the Beautiful" following Nixon's statement.

In endorsing restoration of normal relations, Chou cited five specific points to be agreed upon, including non-aggression, non-interference in the internal affairs of each other's government.

While Nixon's toast was translated into Chinese, Chou sat half turned in his chair, looking toward the podium where Nixon stood beneath two huge American and Chinese flags.

As he left the podium, Nixon accepted a glass of wine from a waiter, and walked straight to the big round table he shared with Chou En-lai. The two raised their glasses.

Chou then turned to Mrs. Nixon and they raised their glasses in a toast as Nixon did the same with the more than 13 other dignitaries at the head table.

Nixon then went from table to table, taking a small sip each time he raised his glass in a toast before returning to his table, where he again toasted Chou.

In his remarks climaxing an eventful first day in China, Nixon paraphrased both Abraham Lincoln and Mao, Chou in turn quoted Nixon's recent statement expressing hope that a new chapter could be opened in Chinese-American relations.

Chou cited the United States and China could have differences without going to war with each other.

He said: "President Nixon's visit to our country ... provides the leaders of the two countries with the opportunity of meeting and normalizing relations between the two countries. This is a positive move in conformity with the desire of the Chinese and American people."

"I am confident the day will surely come when the common desire of our two peoples will surely be realized."

Both leaders frankly acknowledged there were ideological differences between their two governments but as Nixon phrased it: "If our two peoples are enemies, the future of this world we share together is dark indeed."

Nixon's reception to China was courteously correct but not enthusiastic.

Prior to the banquet, the President conferred privately with Mao, the 78-year-old spiritual leader of the Communist movement in China, and held three working sessions with Chou.

The one-hour initial meeting between Nixon and Mao took place at the latter's home. It was described as a "frank discussion" by White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Ziegler made only a bare-bone announcement that the meeting had occurred. He did not say when or if Nixon and Mao, the architect and father of Chinese communism, would meet again.

Red China Welcome...Not Exactly Warm, But

PEKING (AP) — President Nixon's welcome to the People's Republic of China was a lot like Peking's February weather, not exactly warm but several degrees above the frost level.

Shivering under a wan winter sun, a thin red line of officials witnessed the historic handshake that Nixon extended to Premier Chou En-lai as he came down the red carpeted steps from the Spirit of 1776.

This was the hand that John Foster Dulles refused to shake at the 1954 Geneva Conference on Indochina, saying it was a hand that had "liquidated millions of Chinese."

After Nixon shook hands with other officials, he and Chou moved down the line to inspect the honor guard from the Peoples' Revolutionary Army and Air Force.

Chairman Mao Tse-tung wasn't in the airport reception committee, but his pudgy countenance beamed down from the glass-walled airport terminal on the unfamiliar spectacle of an American flag flying at the same height as the five-starred flag of his people's republic.

A tall Tartar of a drum major in a fur cap raised aloft a long brass baton topped with a fluttering red flag and the Red Army band responded with The Star Spangled Banner, then followed with The Volunteers Song, the anthem of Red China.

Nationalist China's National Assembly blasts President Nixon's trip and Mrs. Nixon acts like a tourist. Stories on page 3.

Throughout the 15-minute airport ceremony, Mrs. Nixon in her Republican red cloth coat chatted through an interpreter with Mrs. Lin Chia-mei, wife of the vice premier, who wore sensible worker's shoes and a Mao-type trouser suit.

Peking, where people power is always available, shows the warmth of its welcome by the masses of people turned out for a demonstration. On special occasions, like the birthday of the republic, the Chinese have been known to parade 3 million people through Tien An Men Square in demonstrations that sometime take three days to pass the Gate of Heavenly Peace.

By these standards, Nixon's arrival in Peking was a lonely affair. Certainly there was nothing like the half a million people who turned out to greet Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam in November.

During the 20-mile motorcade from the airport, only handfuls of workers looked up from their chores in the wintry gray fields of the communes or peeked out through factory gates.

As the black limousines moved into the downtown area, several thousand people could be seen at least a block away in the streets behind the central market and the new railway station. There were no barricades, but the police apparently were keeping them back.

Tien An Men square, the huge concourse in front of the Forbidden City of the emperors that can hold half a million people, had several hundred workers and shoppers, mostly on bicycles during their noon lunch break. There were no choruses of schoolchildren to sing out revolutionary songs or bands ringing cymbals and gongs as there were for recent visitors.

In visiting his 71st foreign country, Nixon probably never had a less demonstrative welcome. On the applause meter, Genghis Khan may have gotten a higher rating going past the Gate of Heavenly Peace.

Surge of Communist Viet Attacks

SAIGON (UPI)—Vietnamese Communist forces observed President Nixon's visit to Peking today with a surge of at least 50 attacks throughout South Vietnam that left three Americans and 40 South Vietnamese dead since sunrise Sunday.

In addition, 69 Communists were reported killed, and 12 Americans and 54 South Vietnamese were wounded. But allied officers said they did not consider this the beginning of a much-discussed Communist offensive supposedly timed for the Nixon visit.

Though the Vietnamese have suffered at least 233 casualties over the past four days—116 killed and 117 wounded—a South Vietnamese spokesman said today "The level of enemy attacks indicates enemy activity is about normal."

La. Gen. Ngo Dzu, military commander in the Central Highlands, where the main weight of the attack was expected, told a press conference today that thanks to allied aerial bombardments and preparedness on the ground, "There is no sign that they are going to start an attack now. It has been delayed."

He said the timetable of the offensive had been thrown off by massive allied air strikes and a number of "small things" such as Communist reconnaissance teams being destroyed by mines.

Dzu said the danger is not over since the Communists still are building up supplies and troops in the tri-border area of Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam's Kontum Province.

In the 24 hours preceding Nixon's arrival in Peking, two Americans were killed and one wounded Sunday when four U.S. helicopters were hit by ground fire, causing two of them to crash 25 miles northwest of Saigon. A third American was killed and two wounded when their reconnaissance patrol came under fire about 30 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

Viet Cong guerrillas shelled the U.S. helicopter base at Phu Lai, 10 miles north of Saigon.

late Sunday afternoon, wounding five Americans and damaging one helicopter.

A Sheridan tank hit a mine on a road 25 miles northeast of Saigon, wounding two Americans. And along the central coast, two rockets hit the U.S. Air Force base at Phan Rang, 165 miles northeast of Saigon, but no injuries were reported.

Two more Americans were wounded when six Soviet-made 122mm rockets slammed into Bien Hao, damaging two jeeps and two buildings.

touched off by Communist terrorists.

Meanwhile in Saigon the U.S. command announced today it was turning over its $59 million dollar airbase at Tuy Hoa along the central coast to the Vietnamese government for use as a civilian airfield.

The command also disclosed the departure of another 4,100 GIs from Vietnam, bringing U.S. troop strength in this country down to 127,100 men. The total is scheduled to fall to 69,000 men by May 1 under President Nixon's withdrawal program. The strength is now the lowest since August, 1965, when there were 100,300 GIs here.

The turnover of Tuy Hoa, which has been active only as a helicopter base since the last U.S. Air Force jets were pulled out of it last fall, will take place Tuesday, the command said.

Attempted Robbery Reported in City

Three Burglaries Under Probe

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON — An attempted robbery of a city factory maintenance man at the point of a knife and three burglaries were under investigation today by police detectives.

George R. Peterson, 60, of 101 Fairview Avenue notified police after 9 p.m. Sunday that he was locking a gate at the Kingston Knitting Mills at Cornell and Progress Streets when a man approached him brandishing a knife described as having a seven-inch blade.

Police reports noted that

Peterson told investigators that the man holding the knife commanded the money or he would cut him. According to Peterson he kicked and punched his assailant and knocked him to the ground.

In the scuffle, Peterson said he was cut on the lip. The man fled on foot along Progress Street pursued by the maintenance man who was unable to apprehend the suspect, described as black, between 30 and 35 years of age and about five feet eight inches tall.

Peterson told detectives the man was clean shaven and wore dark glasses and a brown jacket. Police searched the entire area but found no trace of the much-sought man.

Detectives notified that Uncle Chic's restaurant in the Kingston Shopping Plaza was entered through a side window sometime late Friday or early Saturday. Investigators reported $50 had been taken from the cigarette machine along with home of Stanley McCoubrey on two boxes each half filled with cigars.

A burglary at the Central Lunch, 486 Broadway early Friday also was under investigation. Authorities said a preliminary investigation showed entry was gained through a side door and an undetermined amount of change was taken from pinball and cigarette machines and a pool table.

Meanwhile, detectives continued investigation of a daylight burglary that was reported late last week at the home of Stanley McCoubrey on Hemlock Street. Articles stolen were valued at approximately $530 police said.

The intruder, or intruders, reportedly entered the residence through a door leading from the garage attached to the house. McCoubrey reported that the articles taken and the value included a .45 caliber automatic pistol (serial number 35860) worth $50, a Smith and Wesson 22 caliber pistol (serial number K 346939) value, at $80, a model 760 Remington rifle with pump action and scope valued at $150, a 12-inch General Electric black and white portable television worth $125 and three General Electric cassette recorders valued at $125.

The burglary was reported to authorities late Thursday night.

Mechanical Technology 'Phase Out'

STONE RIDGE

The Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College may decide Tuesday night to begin "phasing out" the mechanical technology program of UCC's Engineering Division.

The program has an enrollment of 15 full time and four part time students. The program's courses are administered by four faculty members.

Dr. George B. Erbstein, UCC president, said the school's administration will recommend to the Board of Trustees Tuesday night that the program be eliminated. The recommendation follows a cost analysis study conducted by the school.

Enrollment in the mechanical technology program has been declining steadily in recent years, according to Dr. Erbstein. At present, the program is one of the most expensive per pupil that the college runs.

Dr. Erbstein said the decision to recommend that the college drop the program is based on "concern for good management and fiscal accountability."

Erbstein emphasized that the program will be phased out over the next two years, and that students presently enrolled in the program will be allowed to finish their studies.

The fate of the four faculty members, however, remains undecided. "We will do whatever we can to retain them if there are openings for which they are qualified."

The program utilizes equipment valued at $500,000, most of it on federal loan to the college. Erbstein said the college will make every effort to transfer the equipment to other programs in the Engineering Division, rather than return it to the federal government.

Plans to eliminate the program have not been enthusiastically received by the UCC Faculty Association, which will meet in special session tonight to discuss the matter. A faculty committee has already been appointed to conduct its own cost analysis.

Allen Duane, vice-president of the Faculty Association, said elimination of the program would "radically affect the entire engineering program at the college." He added, "It's our feeling that it's not proper to arbitrarily close down a program without consulting the community first."

Lt. Shurter Promoted To State Police Captain

ALBANY

A large scale change in the command chain of the State Police, that includes the promotion of Lieutenant William L. Shurter, commanding officer of Zone 3, to the rank of captain, will go into effect Thursday, it was announced today by Superintendent William E. Kiran.

Major Savario A. B. Chieco, formerly stationed with the BCI at Kingston and Highland, will move from his post as director of the State Police Academy to deputy chief inspector, a post that has been vacant several months.

Captain Nicholas G. Lecakes of Troop C, formerly stationed at Highland and Ellenville stations, Nicholas F. Giangualano, Troop A and Jerome J. McNulty, Troop B, BCI, will be promoted to inspectors.

Shurter, a native of Ellenville, has been zone commander of the areas that include Ulster, Greene and adjacent counties for several months. Shurter will be assigned to Troop C headquarters at Sidney. No successor has been named to succeed Shurter.

In other changes, John C. Miller, deputy superintendent in charge of field operations, was named first deputy superintendent to succeed Robert E. Denman, who retired Dec. 31.

Miller, a former chief inspector and former commander of Troop D at Oneida, has been in charge of field operations since September.

Chief Inspector George L. Infante will replace Miller as deputy superintendent in charge of field operations.

Conservative Dinner Now Set for March 10

KINGSTON

The Sixth Annual Conservative Party Washington Day Dinner which was postponed Saturday due to the snow storm will be held Friday March 10 at the Walnut Grove in Kingston.

The dinner, which is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. will have Edward Leonard, former Conservative candidate for lieutenant governor and a professor at Iona College.

William Jackson is dinner chairman.

Trio Nabbed By State Police

TOWN OF ULSTER

Two teenage runaways from Albany and a minor were arrested before midnight Sunday by Hurley State Police charged with criminal possession of stolen property second degree involving a 1964 car reportedly missing from the upstate city.

Troopers Roy Martinussen and Edward J. Collins booked the youths as Paul Stanley Gaskins, 18, and Patrick Nathaniel Bullock, 16, both of Albany. They also were cited as runaways from home. The name of the minor was not released because of his age.

Gaskins and Bullock were arraigned before Hurley Town Justice C. H. DuMond, who committed them to the county jail without bail pending a hearing on Feb. 29. The arrests were made on Route 9W in this township.

The car involved had been reported stolen in Albany on Friday.

Walter Winchell Dead at 74

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—around radios from the era of "Good evening Mr. and Mrs. America and all the ships at sea. Let's go to press."

His hat on his head, his right hand triggering staccato beeps from a noisemaker telegraph key beside the microphone, his breathless delivery rushing through big news and small gossip, Walter Winchell needed no other identification. He brought Americans crowding with the words he coined called "Winchellisms," appeared at one time in almost 1,000 newspapers. He was one of the most powerful commentators of his time.

Winchell died of cancer Sunday at the age of 74. Winchell had been hospitalized at the UCLA Medical Center since Nov. 19. Relatives said he had cancer of the prostate.

He retired from his regular column in 1969 after his only son, Walter Winchell Jr., committed suicide. A year later he announced his "retirement from retirement" to do three columns a week for the New York Daily Mirror, but retired again after less than a year. His wife June, a former Ziegfeld Follies girl, died in 1970 of a heart condition. Winchell dropped out of school at 13 to go on stage in 1910 with the Gus Edwards "Song Review" in a six-boy singing group that included two other ambitious youngsters—Eddie Cantor and George Jessel.

He made the jump from song-and-dance man to newspaper reporter by turning out a column on show business doings and Broadway gossip that appeared in Billboard and Vaudeville News.

In 1924 he joined the New York Graphic at $100 a week, and four years later moved to the New York Mirror, at about the same time beginning his radio broadcast.

His base of operations was the Stork Club, which he made synonymous with his New York, and where he sat each night at Table 50, sipping coffee and asking of the famous, infamous and would-be-somebodies who dropped by: "What's new?"

Winchell moved west in 1962, writing his column from Los Angeles and Scottsdale, Ariz.

Nationalist China Delegates Blast Nixon's Peking Trip

TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist China's National Assembly, meeting to re-elect Chiang Kai-shek president, began work today with a blast at President Nixon's trip to Peking.

The 1,308 delegates adopted a resolution by acclamation which said the visit and its timing seriously damaged Chinese national rights and interests.

It reiterated last Thursday's Foreign Ministry statement that Chiang's government will not recognize any agreements Nixon may reach in Peking, that the Communist regime has no right to represent the Chinese people, and that the Nationalists will not give up their goal of overthrowing the Peking regime.

The resolution specified that it would be delivered to the American Embassy as a formal diplomatic note.

The assembly meets every six years to elect a president and vice president. This year it is also expected to lay the groundwork for the first elections to Nationalist China's representative bodies since 1948, before Chiang was driven from the mainland.

Chiang, now 84 and serving his fourth six-year term, told the assembly Sunday he wanted to step down. But the delegates are likely to treat this as a matter of form and re-elect him next month to a fifth term.

"Although I am more than willing to continue serving the country," Chiang said, "I have been in office for a long time and in the light of my feelings of regrets, am sincerely requesting that you, my fellow delegates, choose a new person of virtue and ability to succeed me as president of the country."

The delegates immediately objected and appealed to him to remain a candidate for re-election. The assembly will vote March 21-22.

Chinese and American diplomats under special strain now because of the Nixon administration's policy of rapprochement with the Communist regime in Peking. If Chiang retired, this would probably mean a strengthened touch off a power struggle that by the fact that his regime is could finish the Nationalists.

Pat Acts Like Tourist

PEKING (UPI)—Pat Nixon sipped jasmine tea and turned a shopper's eye on some of the local tourist goods in her first few hours in China today, but had almost no contact with the people in the street.

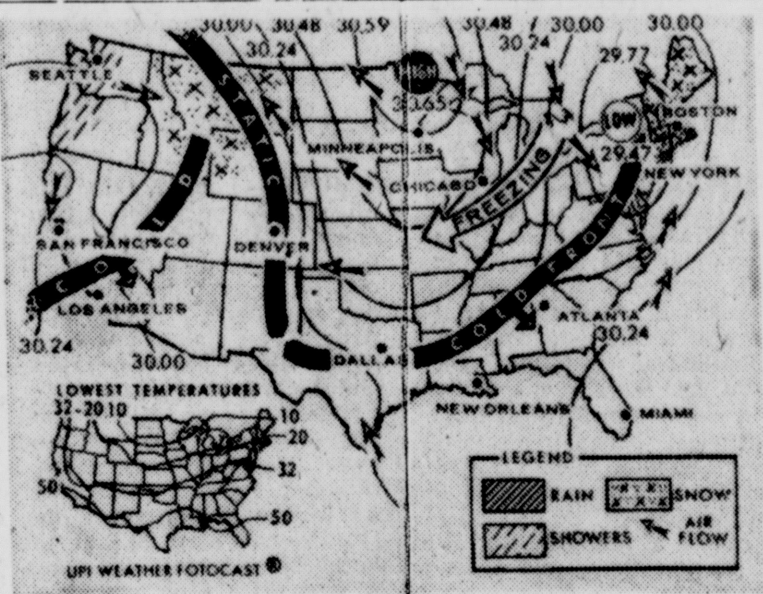

Dressed in a flaming red coat—a shade called "American Beauty"—and wearing black gloves but no hat in the crisp winter sunshine, Mrs. Nixon was whisked from Shanghai to Peking and then across the city with her husband after the brief welcome ceremony at the airport outside, the ancient imperial city.

Her first real chance to mingle with Chinese below the official level probably would come at a banquet in the Great Hall of the People in the center of Peking later today.

During a brief layover at the airport outside Shanghai, Mrs. Nixon stepped inside the terminal where she was served a cup of jasmine tea with a pale yellow jasmine bloom floating in it.

And inside the Shanghai topcoats.

KINGSTON A new congressional district for Ulster County is being carved out in Albany and will reportedly include all of Ulster, Delaware and Broome counties, a part of Sullivan County and a major portion of Tioga County.

Seven-term Republican Congressman Howard Robison, who presently represents Tioga and Otsego counties in the 33rd Congressional District, on hearing of the redistricting plan in Albany this week, reportedly was hesitant about his candidacy for an eighth term due to the huge size of the new district being designed. Expressing doubts as to whether he would relish driving from Waverly to Kingston along the campaign trail, Robison indicated he will wait and see what the State Legislature does. Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, who serves on the reapportionment committee, and who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Congress, said he too would wait, review the redistricting and then make a final determination.

Former State Sen. Lloyd A. Newcombe, who has said he is willing to go into a Republican Primary if he fails to get the GOP nomination for Senate in Ulster County's new northern Senatorial District, is also considered a possible candidate for Congress as is former Ulster County Legislature majority leader Douglas V. Dye.

The new congressional district, which is roughly the size of the State of Connecticut, will probably see a score of candidates for the post with Ulster's interest heightened if the incumbent Robison declines to run.

Ulster will probably lose its present GOP Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. who reportedly is being redistricted into Dutchess, Putnam and Westchester counties with possibly some of Columbia County included.

South of Ulster County in cumbent Democrat John Dow's District will include Rockland, Orange and part of Sullivan County, it is reported.

Some local political observers indicated they might like to see Newcombe run for the Congress and avoid a Republican Primary fight with the already announced Assemblyman Edwin Mason of Hobart, who seeks the State Senatorial seat, Ulster County Chairman Albert Spada, who has been publicly non-committal concerning senatorial candidates, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

Mason, visiting in Kingston on several occasions within the past week visited with Spada but received no commitment from him.

Mason already has the endorsement of the Ulster County Conservative Party as well as the Delaware and Schoharie County Republican chairman.

New Paltz Seeks Two Principals

NEW PALTZ Frederick C. Dippel, who had served in the position for 14 years, Dr. George J. Smith is presently serving as Acting Supervising Principal.

A brochure will be sent out in the next few weeks concerning the high school principal's job, according to the board. Theodore Sirkko is presently serving in an acting capacity, but has said he desires to go back to teaching next year.

"In the New Paltz schools and community we have an attractive situation to offer candidates for these positions. The Board is cognizant of the need for exceptional leadership in these times of educational crisis and is determined to secure men who will measure up to this need," said the board's statement.

RHINEBECK Ulrich, who is also a member of the law firm which defended Wyant, noted that during this time the defense may still put forth motions.

He said that a conviction is still adjudged a conviction, even if a sentence were to be suspended in this case.

And state law, specifically, states that a person must be removed from public office upon conviction of a felony, and a vacancy would exist.

This vacancy would be filled by appointment of the Town Board, and the term would run only until Dec. 31, 1972, when a voter referendum would be necessitated.

He's Afraid to Remarry; Needs a Good Sex Manual

DEAR ABBY: A "WILLING WIDOW" wrote that she wanted to marry a wonderful widower, but he told her that he had had surgery which terminated his sex life and therefore would not marry her.

She said she had sworn to him on a stack of Bibles that sex was of little importance to her, but he still wouldn't marry her.

She appealed to you, and you said: "Get a higher stack of Bibles!"

Abby, your answer greatly disappointed me. That woman doesn't need a higher stack of Bibles. She and her gentleman friend need a good sex manual.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

It is tragic that so many men believe that because of a physical condition, or advanced age, they are useless sexually. It simply is not true! Just as a man who has lost a limb must learn to walk again, that widower must learn to satisfy his partner with other techniques. He sounds like such a fine unselfish man. Please reconsider and suggest a really explicit "how to" book.

MRS. L. M. IN COLUMBIA, MO.

DEAR MRS. M.: You are absolutely right! I'll take 10 whacks with the best "how to" manual I've ever come across. It's "A Doctor Speaks on Sexual Expression in Marriage," by Donald W. Hastings. ("Human Sexual Response" by Masters and Johnson is also excellent, but it's twice as thick!)

AMERICAN CLASSIC

Hair that is all one length at the bottom has become an American classic. That's probably because longer hair, which younger women prefer today is easier to manage when it is all one length. This hairstyle has made people very hair conscious and has probably been the single most important factor in the new direction of hairdressing. Because it moves nicely on the head, because it is so simple, so graphic, so dependent on the haircut and one's own ability to care for it, it makes its owner conscious of the texture, body, curl, wave, health and condition as never before.

Speaking of hair being dependent upon the haircut, let us do the expert cutting necessary whether or not your hair is one length. Carousal Coiffures, 702-C Broadway, Kingston, 331-9330.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

School Busing on Ballot

Florida will tell the nation March 14 how people feel about busing for the sole purpose of achieving race balance in the schools. All the indications are it will deliver a strong vote against busing.

When the question was voted on the ballot by the state legislature, it immediately became an overriding issue, confusing the field of candidates for the Democratic nomination, except for Governor George C. Wallace of Alabama and Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington. Both had been advocating a constitutional amendment prohibiting mandatory busing.

The big winner from white votes against busing could be President Nixon. While taking no position on the proposed amendment, he had assured opponents of busing that he would find a way of rejecting it despite the fact that some courts have ordered it. He has been outspoken against busing and for parents to have the right to send their children to neighborhood schools.

Vice President Agnew and the leaders of the Senate, Mike Mansfield for the Democrats and Hugh Scott for the Republicans, all felt that an amendment is not the way to eliminate mandatory busing. However, Agnew agreed with the President on the main question, that busing to integrate schools is wrong and cruel to whites and blacks alike.

Although this could bring a great many white votes for the Nixon-Agnew repeat, black leaders, who see the ceasing of busing as a great backward slide away from integration, are urging all blacks to cross out the Republican team. Even moderate blacks are calling the President's stand a total rejection of the issue, but it is something with which campaign manager Mitchell is going to have to deal.

Locking Up the House

There are still communities in this country where house and car doors are left unlocked, but they are getting to be few and far between. It is a sad commentary on the state of life in America that this tradition of the open house is becoming scarcer and scarcer in practice.

Of course, the closed door is the result of the rise of crime throughout the country. Nationwide increases in burglaries and rape have turned people away from their natural hospitality. The risk is too great now, not alone in the big cities, but in towns and in the countryside. Some of the worst recent indignities and offenses have occurred in rural communities.

All burglaries and rape should be reported to the police. For one thing, there is a tax deduction for loss when a burglary is committed.

More cases of rape occur than are reported because victims are diffident about making it public. They may save others if they report the offense.

Meantime, the locksmiths are having a bonanza. The Associated Locksmiths of America report a 100 per cent boom in lock sales in the past five years. And while they admit that no lock is burglar proof, they are developing some that will require a burglar to be an electronics or computer expert to open them.

The biggest damage is to human trust. A door bell no longer means a friend at the door—it may mean a burglar or worse.

NO BILLBOARDS MUSKIE—Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine will not use billboards in his campaign for the presidential nomination. He said they are inconsistent with his position on environmental controls. There should be many votes for his view that billboards are a visual blight on the nation's highways.

ABORTION NURSES—An unanticipated and serious problem in abortions has been aired in New York, as a result of the state's liberal abortion law. Nurses, devoted to saving lives, left hospitals or transferred to other departments rather than work in pregnancy interruption. They show their respect for human life.

WASHINGTON — A six-month investigation has exposed how graveyard salesmen promise America's war heroes "free" lots, then hard-sell them into burial deals costing up to $2,000.

This macabre nationwide traffic was discovered by five George Washington University law students using the code name "Dead Giveaway" and working under consumer advocate Prof. John Banzhaf III.

Their 135 pages of findings were turned over to Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., whose Senate Veterans Committee swore the students to secrecy until they can be heard in testimony on Wednesday.

But we have examined a copy of the unsettling study. Here are the highlights:

An elderly, crippled woman had to exhume the body of her veteran husband from Rosewood Memorial Park, Virginia Beach, Va., "because she was unable to pay $1,100 for the 'free' grave for which the veteran had 'registered'."

"A veteran and his wife... were told by a salesman from Pinelawn (N. Y.) Memorial Cemetery... that because of a shortage of burial spaces in the eastern United States, veterans who died after 1980 without a burial space would have to be cremated." The panicked veteran signed a $740 contract.

A saleswoman told a veteran's wife she was from the Veterans Administration and was sending over a representative. The "VA representative" talked the vet into buying a $338 lot in the "Garden of Winged Victory," Crestwood Cemetery, Grand Blanc, Mich.

Dead Giveaway

A young veteran was told by a salesman from Pisgah View (N. C.) Memorial Park that he would lose his VA burial benefits "if he didn't accept the 'free' offer because of a shortage of space in the National Cemeteries... The resultant cost $1,441."

"A totally disabled veteran with brain damage was sold a $1,100 contract by Carolina Biblical Gardens of Guilford, N. C., as the result of high-pressure sales tactics."

The "Dead Giveaway" students, posing as prospective grave lot buyers, discovered nationwide chains industriously profiting from "free" or nearly "free" burial site offers to veterans.

One chain, Olympus Service Corp., of Dallas, enthusiastically reported to its stockholders that lot sales had "accelerated from the average of $30,000 per month to $350,000."

Other burial chains criticized in the study are Service Corporation International, of Houston, and Woodlawn Memorial Gardens, Inc., Norfolk.

The student researchers found few or no complaints against some cemeteries. But there was evidence that a few big graveyards were peddling do-it-yourself kits to smaller cemeteries on how to profit from phony "free" offers to vets. In other cases, chains bought up smaller firms as part of "package" deals with 500 per cent mark-ups.

The students found abuses occurred most frequently in Florida, Maryland, Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Yet so lucrative is the veterans market that the eminent National Association of Cemeteries recently sponsored a sales management clinic called "Veterans Programs Can Last Forever."

At the Association's Arlington, Va., offices, spokesmen commented, "most of the complaints have been highly exaggerated."

Footnote: Veterans can get up to $250 in burial expenses from the Veterans Administration and a free plot in a National Cemetery from the Army. The Army, VA and authorized veterans groups willingly provide burial information.

Washington Whirl
Hospital Crisis — Officials at the prestigious Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland had to close down all 11 of their operating rooms recently when they discovered the air conditioning system was discharging "foreign material which appeared to be rust." Emergency patients were shunted into a backup operating room in the outpatient department while the air in the normal surgical suite was purified.

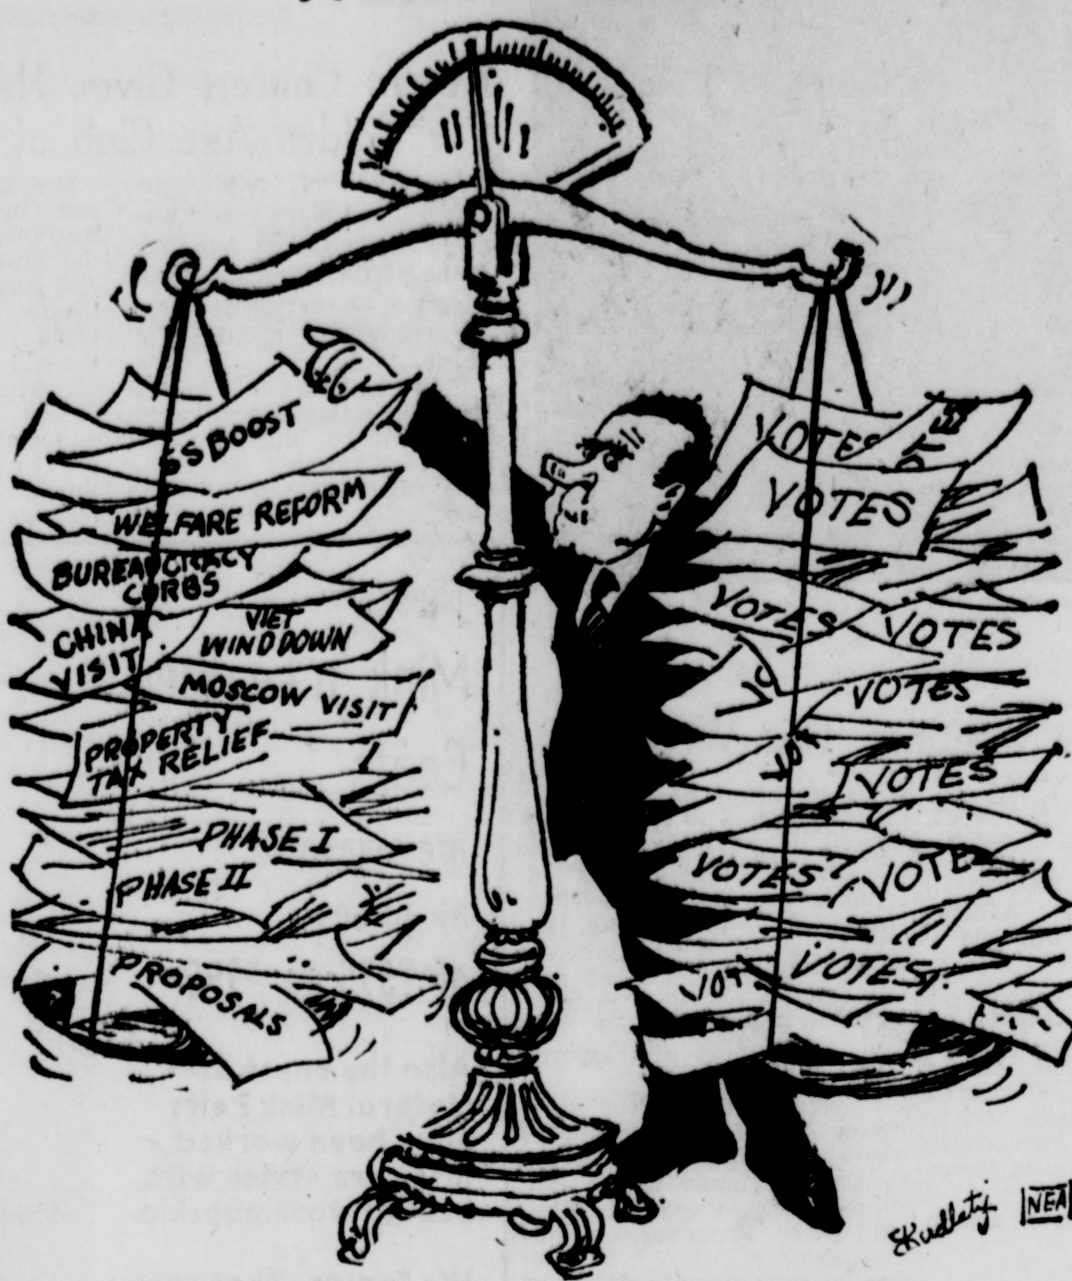

Tower Trips — When Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., looks for campaign fund raisers, he goes to the wealthy special interests he has served so loyally during his Senate years. Thus, when he wanted a top fund raiser in Texas's most important county, he went to Humble Oil's capable chairman, Mike Wright. Tower made the secret approach through GOP National Co-Chairman Anne Armstrong and her husband Tobin. Mrs. Armstrong dispatched her husband's uncle, Tom Armstrong, hunting buddy of Wright, to convince him to be a finance chairman for Harris County, which includes Houston. But the cagey Wright pointed out that he is on the board of the U.S. Postal Service, which might be a conflict of interest. Crestfallen, Mrs. Armstrong wrote Tower, in a letter marked "Personal and Confidential," that Wright might help out some "without a title," but not formally. Tom Armstrong, she said, "really worked on this and is so sorry he couldn't deliver for you."

Patent Play — The Interior Department is trying to poke another hole in the public's right to patents developed under federal contracts. The Office of Saline Water has asked Congress to let industry have the rights to desalinization patents for up to three years. But sharp-eyed staffers at the House Interior Committee have spotted the loophole request. They are estimating how much the giveaway will cost the public — and whether it is true, as Saline Water claims, that industry won't do de-salting work without an exemption.

Asian Expansion

The CIA has reported to President Nixon in Peking that, as we withdraw our troops, the Red forces are moving over Southeast Asia like termites on a log. The current alarm concerns Cambodia, Thailand and Burma, all three.

Cambodia is only the size of Oklahoma but it has 6.7 million people. The President's Vietnam pull-out was threatened by 60,000 North Vietnamese in Cambodia. Our incursion into Cambodia was a spoiling action covering our rear guard in Vietnam. But since then the keystone of the Nixon policy — Vietnamization — was tested by the Vietnamese Army's protectionary assault into Cambodia. And, as a demonstration to support the hope of Vietnamization, it was tragically unpromising.

The CIA advised the President that the disintegration heights. The Cambodian Army has only 35,000 men. Phnom Penh, the capital, is cut off, of course, except for a single uncertain road, but the Reds have now finished fortifying even fabulous Angkor Wat and completely control strategic Tonle Sap, the great lake of Cambodia. Premier Lon Nol is pressed toward a cease-fire.

Thailand borders on Cambodia; it stands between Cambodia, Laos and Burma. Thailand is about the size of France and extends down most of the tapering peninsula that wanders off toward Singapore.

The Siamese (34.7 million people) call their country Muang Thai, meaning Land of the Free People, and the name Siam is a foreign corruption as unintelligible to the Thais as "China" is in China.

It has always been fiercely independent. In fact, Thailand is the only nation in the entire area that never has been ruled by a foreign power. But the CIA has notified Mr. Nixon that Thai Army Commander Gen. Prapas Charusathien reports that his units have intercepted Red Chinese and North Vietnamese soldiers crossing into Thailand's Sisaket and Surin Provinces, 250 miles northeast of Bangkok. General Charusathien has only a 141,500-man force to meet this expansion.

U.S. Ambassador to Cambodia Emery C. Swank, in turn, apprised of this, is urging General Charusathien to add an army of ethnic Cambodians to meet Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai's expansion.

Burma, about the size of Texas, has a long common border with Thailand on Burma's Shan states. But Burma's (27 million people), fabled in Kipling's verses, is as different from Thailand as day and night. The home country of vacillating, mercurial former United Nations Secretary General U Thant, Burma is one of Southeast Asia's most inaccessible and mysterious countries and largely prohibits visitors.

Its actual name is the Pye-Daung-Su Mya n m a Nainggan-Daw Union of Burma. The country is utterly provincial, totally fatalistic and unalterably Burmese. Neutrality, which likewise mesmerizes U Thant, is a fixation and isolationism a creed.

Burma Chief of State Gen. Ne Win, 60, has lidded eyes as rich as jade in a face as pale as bread and a man as wily and suspicious as U Thant himself, once told me in Mandalay, "Only Buddha can help anyone." And, not surprisingly, Burma's Marxist economy approaches absolute thrombosis.

Burma has a wild, mountainous 1,200-mile frontier—a third as long as our Canadian border—with Red China. Its armed forces total 137,500 men—6,500 of them in a completely meaningless Air Force.

The CIA reported to President Nixon in Peking that 20,000 China-armed insurgents are now battling these forces. They are in a major engagement near Lashio, close to Red China's border. And, reported the CIA, 3,000 North Vietnamese are heading into Burma's Shan State. Ne Win incessantly travels abroad—always flamboyantly—plays golf and hobnobs with world dignitaries whenever possible and prefers the city of Mandalay where "the dawn comes up like thunder" to his capitol of Rangoon. And until now Red China has adopted a restrained role toward Burma. The CIA opinion is that Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai felt that they can wait until Ne Win dies or is booted out, as he booted out predecessor U Nu, and then Red China will be sucked into Burma as a vacuum.

The CIA message to the President changes this. Unrevealed, Cambodia, Thailand and Burma alike suddenly jolt Mr. Nixon's Peking talks and further complicate his success over there.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

My Old Man Was a Sore Winner

A group of us stopped at the turf club at Gulfstream Park. It was a sunny afternoon with a pale sky and an assortment of fluffed-up pillows floating by. Mrs. B. always expects to win. She beams over lunch, studying all the form charts, balancing the hotshot tips against each other and coming up with a sure loser.

I expect to lose and I'm seldom disappointed. This particular outing cost $26, a victory of sorts. Kelly figures she dropped a total of 20 cents, but I know she bet eight races, not counting the daily double and the perfecta. I am certain that the little abacus she has in her head is busted.

The joy of the day was that Louise Hackmeister and a couple of her girl friends were with us. Miss Hackmeister is a brown-eyed beauty of 80. Everything about her radiates a love of life and living. She could pass for 55 or 60 at the worst. Long ago, Hacky was chief telephone operator at the White House and she knew where a lot of the bodies were buried, but she was too busy laughing to tell.

She was in Warm Springs, Georgia, on that fateful April 12, 1945, when a Secret Service man named James Beary got her on the phone and said: "Get Doctor Bruenn right away. The President has fainted." He died that afternoon, but many who wept for him lived on. It is almost 27 years ago, and Hacky remarked how beautiful the race track is and how bright the orange sun of Florida.

She made her own bets and blew almost all the races. She didn't know whether to bet the horses, the jocks or her phone number. Like other readers, she is interested in my father and asked a lot of questions about him.

He wouldn't bet on a race even if he could fix it. "You heard of sore losers?" he once said to me at Monmouth Park. Then he turned on the shark smile and held out his hand. "Shake hands with a sore winner."

On another occasion, I gave him the binoculars to him and he studied the thousands of people milling around the infield. He looked up surprised. "Isn't anybody working?" he asked. For the fifteenth time, he told the story of the chief of police who arrived at headquarters with one shoe flopping off his foot.

The chief had a streak of hard luck with horses which lasted over 25 years. When it was pointed out that he had one shoe flopping, he took it off, handed it to a patrolman, and said: "Go down to the shoe store, Tommy, and see if you can get me a left-footed shoe to match this one."

My old man could work up a little empathy for booze or chasing men, but he wouldn't bid the time of day to a horse player. Liquor, he felt, was the only medicine in the world which could stave off sudden death and the fear of it. I remember one occasion, when he was very old, that he staved it off so well that he fell on the bedroom rug and couldn't get off it all night.

It didn't bother me, but he blamed the rest of the family for not hearing his cries for help from 4 a.m. until 7:30. In fact he worked himself into a fit of temper when the housekeeper looked down at him and said: "Oh, Mr. Bishop. What are you doing down there?" He had a warehouse full of short words.

Hacky thought he must have been a character. I guess he was, but when a man is your personal character you fail to see the happy side of it. He liked Gulfstream and would sit in a summery box on a winter afternoon, arms folded, the blue eyes studying the matching sky and he would poke me and say: "I wonder what the poor people are doing?"

He thought that line was hot stuff. If I didn't laugh, he would. We got off the topic of my father to study the charts and to order scrambled eggs and bacon and toast. None of our horses lost by a quarter pole. Every one died at the wire. There were more photos than you'll find in a camera store.

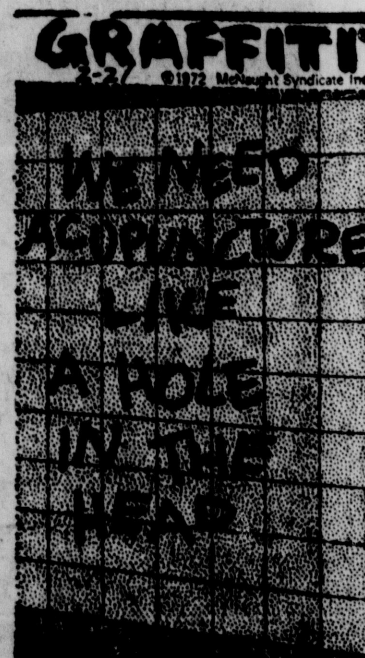

When Hacky was telling Kelly what a good time she and her friends had, I went back to thinking of my father. If he was still living, he'd have caught Hacky in the clubhouse elevator with both arms and breathed: "Why didn't somebody introduce us 60 years ago? Anyway, thank God it's better late than never."

He liked the odds in that game.

Violence Continues in North Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Bomb blasts caused rush hour traffic chaos in downtown Belfast today. In Londonderry British troops battled snipers during the night in what the army called the worst shooting violence since 13 civilians died there on "bloody Sunday."

Two masked gunmen sent attendants fleeing from a gasoline station in Chichester Street 200 yards from Belfast City Hall today and planted bombs that wrecked the station and set one gasoline pump ablaze, an army spokesman said.

Two persons were hospitalized for shock, the spokesman said.

The explosions came during the morning rush hour, with downtown streets crowded with people on their way to work. The sudden blasts, screaming ambulance sirens and security cordons thrown around the area caused traffic chaos.

In the Londonderry battle, the army retaliated with nausea gas, smoke bombs and rubber bullets at rioting crowds. In one incident troops pumped rifle fire into the spire of a cathedral where two gunmen were believed to be hiding, an army spokesman said.

The army said no particular incident sparked the shootings but that it could have been part of the revenge promised by the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) to kill a soldier for each civilian killed by the British troops on "bloody Sunday."

There were no reports of injuries.

Earlier, the army said troops shot and seriously wounded a man waving a pistol outside a pub in the same area, the Roman Catholic Bogside district.

In Dublin, Justice Minister Des O'Malley said the Irish government would continue its crackdown on IRA members by seeking to re-prosecute suspected extremists freed by "inexplicable" court decisions.

In Belfast a local pro-government newspaper said Sunday Britain had decided to appoint a commission of three Protestants, three Catholics and an Englishman to rule embattled Northern Ireland.

An army spokesman said 72 shots were fired at troops in Londonderry on six separate occasions. He said in one case two men fired several shots from the spire of St. Eugene's

West Coast Longshoremen Return to Work

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—West Coast longshoremen were back on the docks today, ending a 135-day strike that was the longest and costliest waterfront walkout in U.S. history.

"We go back to stay," said Mack Smith, for 27 years a registered longshoreman in San Francisco. "I am not satisfied with the contract, but I have no choice but to go back."

The first men back on the docks were "gear men," who worked Sunday to prepare machinery for use when most of the 15,000 longshoremen reported for work as of the first shift today.

Rank and file members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union voted Saturday with 71 per cent in favor of a proposed contract to end the lengthy strike. The Pacific Maritime Association, representing employers, also ratified the contract.

In Seattle, 53 ships were waiting to be unloaded and reloaded so they can go back to sea, while in San Francisco Bay there were 51 ships waiting.

During the strike, grain piled up because farmers couldn't ship it, some businesses cut back employment, foreign car dealers ran out of cars to sell and exporters lost customers to other nations.

President Nixon estimated the strike cost the Western states' economy 23.5 million a day, but the actual cost can probably never be calculated.

The new 18-month contract includes $1.12 an hour pay increase and a $5.2 million annual package guaranteeing a minimum weekly wage.

Coal Deliveries Resume in Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Coal deliveries to thousands of cold, dank British homes resumed today for the first time in six weeks, but life was far from back to normal.

Strict power cuts remained in effect and the government warned householders it could be a month before electrical supplies were at full power.

"By hook or by crook we are getting in every available ton of coal from all sources," said Arthur Hawkins, chairman-elect of the Central Electricity Generating Board.

Because of the six-week coal miners strike, the supply of fuel to electrical power stations was cut back, forcing them in turn to reduce their output. The result was a serious power shortage that closed businesses, caused blackouts and generally made life difficult all over Britain.

Hawkins said if the 280,000 striking coal miners vote this week to go back to work next Monday as their executive has recommended, the board could meet all electricity demands in three weeks.

With ships, trains and trucks racing to get coal to homes for the first time since the miners walked off their jobs Jan. 9, the Department of Trade and Industry took full page advertisements in all the national newspapers urging consumers to economize on their use of electric power.

"The risk to our vital services remains ... restrictions and economies will be vital for some time ... one extra light in each house takes the entire output of a large power station," the ads said in a plea for voluntary restraint.

"Please don't relax," Hawkins urged.

The coal miners vote Wednesday to decide whether to accept the government offer that will give them a 20 per cent pay hike and add $319.8 million to the wage bill of the state-run National Coal Board.

Israeli Forces in 'War Games'

By United Press International

Israeli forces began today what military analysts in Tel Aviv described as "the biggest war games" since the end of the 1967 war.

Military sources said the exercises, under way in the Negev and occupied Sinai Deserts, involve regular and reserve troops. Egypt has been notified of the exercises by way of the U.N. truce supervisory organization, they said.

Egypt held similar war games last month along the Suez Canal front and Israel was informed by the U.N. organization they would be held, the sources said. The cease-fire line along the Suez Canal has been generally quiet since Aug. 8, 1970.

In Damascus, the chairman of the Palestinian National Council, Khaled Fahoum, said Palestinian guerrilla groups have unanimously agreed to unite in a 12,000-man army aimed at fighting Israel to recapture Arab lands. The separate guerrilla groups now maintain their own military forces, financial organizations and political ideology.

In Cairo, Egyptian officials endorsed the latest peace mission of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring as the only way to settle the Middle East crisis. The semi-official Middle East News Agency (MENA) said Egyptian Foreign Minister Murad Ghalib told Jarring he had the nation's "complete support for your mission."

Political observers in the Egyptian capital said the statement appeared to be a rejection of the American-sponsored plan for indirect talks between Israel and Egypt with an American diplomat acting as go-between.

Security officials in Cairo said they had discovered three underground anti-government groups and charges were being prepared against the members. The semi-official Al Ahran newspaper said today the leader of one of the groups, which was dedicated to overthrowing a number of Arab regimes, actually was a member of President Anwar Sadat's staff. They identified the man as Abdel Shafel Beissa, an economist. He was head of the so-called Vanguard organization.

The newspaper did not say specifically what Beissa's job was.

Father Charged In Shooting of 32-Year-old Son

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—An Albany man faces a court hearing Tuesday on a murder charge in the shooting death of his son.

Clifford J. Long, 59, was charged with murder Saturday after he allegedly shot his son, John, 32, during a quarrel Friday night at their home in a fashionable west side section.

Albany Police Court Justice Michael V. Tepedino set Tuesday for a hearing, ordered a mental examination and appointed a public defender when Long was arraigned Saturday. Long was committed to the Albany Penitentiary.

Just Casual Drive for A.J.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — When A. J. Foyt glanced at his pit, he saw the crew flash the "easy" sign. He knew then he had beaten the stock car specialists at their own game. More than half of the Daytona 500 was still to be run, but NASCAR's headliners were packing up to go home. "When they gave me the 'easy' sign I figured it had to be (Richard) Petty," said Foyt after winning stock car racing's premier event. "The next time around they flashed '43 out.' Petty's Plymouth had dropped a valve on the backstretch after 200 miles. With NASCAR's all-time champion out of action, it was almost a casual 'Sunday drive' from there out for Foyt in his Mercury. The three-time Indianapolis 500 champion, who has also won at Le Mans, needed Sunday's victory to fulfill a dream and claim automobile racing's triple crown. "I'd won at Indy three times and I'd won at Le Mans," said the 37-year-old Texan. "I had always wanted to win the Daytona 500 because I feel this is the greatest stock car race in the world. We didn't make it last year and I was hoping like hell we could come back." Despite the apparent ease of his two-lap victory, Foyt downgraded the competition. "If you don't think they're good, you ought to get out there and try to run against them," he said. Foyt, who led 167 of the 200 laps, averaged a record 161.550 miles per hour in posting his third victory here. He won the Firecracker 400 in 1964 and 1965. Charlie Glotzbach finished one lap back in a Dodge. Jim Vandiver was third in a Dodge and Benny Parsons was fourth in a Mercury—both six laps back. James Hylton was fifth in a Ford nine laps back.

Foyt, who started in the No. 2 position, grabbed the lead on the first lap while Petty and Buddy Baker, driving a 1972 Dodge, were battling to catch the leaders from the 31st and 32nd starting positions. Petty and Baker had moved up to third and fourth places when a spectacular three-car accident knocked Baker out on the 20th lap. Baker tangled with Walter Ballard's 1971 Ford coming through a high-banked turn with Ballard skidding some 300 yards upside down before flipping three times as his car hit the grassy infield. Baker slammed into the wall before ricocheting across the track into the infield retainer wall. Buddy Arrington also hit the wall in his 1970 Dodge trying to avoid the wreck. All three drivers walked away uninjured from the only major accident in the race. Other major contenders dropped out early with mechanical problems. Pole-sitter Bobby Isaac went out after 55 miles with a burned piston in his Dodge. Mark Donohue was forced out after 77 miles with a broken push rod in his Matador, the only factory-backed car in the race.

Bobby Allison, who was 16th in his Chevrolet, finished the race on only four cylinders after experiencing problems all day. Foyt, who admitted he eased off the throttle after Petty went out, said he doesn't like a long lead. "When it's close, you drive heads up all day," he said. "I'd just as soon race like Richard and I was for the whole race."

Foyt said he had a couple of "close calls"—the closest being when Jim Hurtubise blew an engine in his Chevrolet shortly after the midway point and sped off all over Foyt's windshield. "It was just like having sunglasses on and somebody drops a sheet over your head," said Foyt. "I could only see out of a tiny hole at the bottom of the windshield and I didn't want to be an idiot and drive into the wall so I headed for the pits."

The unscheduled pit stop allowed Glotzbach to pick up one of the two laps he had been trailing, but no one was going to come any closer to the Foyt Mercury.

END OVER END — Walter Ballard of Houston, Texas went end over end in front of thousands of spectators at Daytona International Speedway Sunday during Daytona 500. Baker collided with Buddy Baker as they rounded turn to front stretch. Both men escaped serious injury. (UPI)

An Extra Birdie Wins for Blancas

By HARRIETT HINDMAN

PHOENIX (UPI) — The play of Texan Homero Blancas in the Phoenix Open golf tournament ranged from brilliant to sub-par, including on the first playoff hole when he claimed the $25,000 first prize Sunday. After what he termed a "horrible second shot," Blancas reached the green with a wedge over a tree and sank a four-foot birdie putt to defeat youthful Lanny Wadkins. Blancas had tied the Phoenix Country Club course record of 61 in Friday's second round to claim a share of the lead which he relinquished only briefly in Sunday's round. On Saturday the Houston resident ballooned to a two-over-par 73 and allowed England's Tony Jacklin to tie him after 54 holes at nine under-par 204.

"I've been having trouble with my woods the last two years," Blancas said. "I used a wood on that horrible second shot that got me into the trees."

Wadkins' second shot was almost identical to the one by Blancas, but his wedge shot to the green was 14 feet past the pin, and his birdie attempt coming back was a foot short. Runnerup in the Bob Hope Desert Classic, playing in his 12th tournament after leaving Wake Forest and turning pro only last spring, Wadkins admitted indirectly he may have felt the pressure. "It was my first playoff," he said, but promised, "I'll be back." He said he had a bad second shot on the extra hole and the third was just too long. Both Wadkins and Blancas had two putts in the 18th green in regulation play to force the sudden death playoff. Blancas had a final round of 69, and Wadkins, two strokes off the pace after 54 holes, shot a 66. They tied at 11-under 273 for 72 holes.

Veteran Marty Fleckman, the only entry with four sub-70 rounds, won third-place money of $8,850, finishing 69-68-69-68-274.

Paul Moran, a 10-year pro but in only his second year on the tour, made a run at the leaders, then was knocked out of contention when he got in the water on the par 3 15th and took a triple bogey. He finished in a four-way tie at 276 with Jacklin, Jim Wiechers and three-time Phoenix winner Gene Littler. At 277 were Hubert Green and Hal Underwood.

Gearhart Tops PBA Tourney

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — Southpaw Butch Gearhart of Houston, Tex., has won his fourth Professional Bowlers Association championship and is $10,000 richer.

The 27-year-old Texan was a 47-pin winner over Roy Buckley of Columbus, Ohio, in Saturday's televised finals of the $80,000 Winston-Salem Bowling Classic.

Gearhart began the payoff game with a strike and never gave up the lead. He struck in the eighth and ninth boxes and spared in the 10th to win his fourth PBA championship. Buckley, who has won one title, earned $6,000 for his runner-up finish in the four-day event.

Ratelle Hits '100'

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jean Ratelle took his milestone 100th scoring point pretty much the way he has taken everything else in this record-breaking National Hockey League season—with a shrug and a smile.

Ratelle became the seventh man in NHL history to soar past the century mark Sunday night when he scored two goals and assisted on Bobby Rousseau's winner in New York's 4-3 victory over the Detroit Red Wings.

The three points gave Ratelle 102 for the season, one less than Boston's Phil Esposito, the league leader. Ratelle has 19 games to play and Esposito has 18 left.

When Ratelle's first-period shot dribbled past Detroit goalie Andy Brown for his 42nd goal of the season and 100th point, linemate Vic Hadfield, who had three assists in the game, scrambled into the net to fish out the puck as a memento. It is a measure of the kind of season Ratelle is having that he has lost count of how many pucks he's saved from it. "I don't know. I give them to my wife to save. I must have eight or nine," said Jean Jean.

Nancy Ratelle has the third goal from each of Jean's three hat tricks—"and the fourth from the game I got four goals," Jean added. She also has his 40th goal, which tied a Ranger record, and his 88th point, which tied another club record.

"What's that? Six?" said Ratelle. "Tonight is seven then."

What about his 56th assist—another record. "You know, I'm not sure whether I saved that one or not," smiled Ratelle. "I'll have to look and let you know later."

Ratelle responded to his milestone point no differently than he had to the first 99 this season. But the Ranger fans didn't. They gave him a standing ovation that lasted several minutes and delayed resumption of the game. Ratelle, his head slightly bent, stood at the faceoff circle as the applause showered down on him. "There's not much to do there and wait. But it was a nice feeling."

Asked about his calm reaction to the historic moment, Ratelle laughed. "If this was my first year, maybe I'd react differently. But after 10 years," he shrugged.

Two goals by Ratelle and another by Rod Gilbert had been balanced by Detroit's Mickey Redmond, Al Karlander and Marcel Dionne and the score was 3-3 with just over seven minutes left.

Guy Charron of the Red Wings was sent off for hooking at 12:45 of the final period and six seconds later, Rousseau's slap shot hit the net for the game-winner. Ratelle won the faceoff to set up the deciding goal.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Phil Esposito scored his 50th and 51st goal of the season, as the Boston Bruins beat the Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 in a nationally televised contest.

Esposito, shooting against his brother Tony in the Chicago net, scored the deciding goal in the second period when he tapped the puck in from the goal crease after his brother Tony sprawled on the ice to make a late save on a shot by Dan Awrey. Esposito also got an assist to boost his point total 103 for the season, one more than Jean Ratelle of the Rangers.

In other games, Minnesota blanked Pittsburgh 2-0, California tied St. Louis 4-4, Philadelphia topped Toronto 3-1. Frank Mahovich scored two goals and Ken Dryden registered his sixth shutout of the season as Montreal blanked Buffalo 4-0.

Rod Laver Shows Winning Form

It's Laver Again

TORONTO (UPI) —Slick and volleys. After I won the win.

stoking southpaw Rod Laver first set so easily I was a little scored his third consecutive victory in singles competition things would reverse them and finished a close second in selves, but I served well in the doubles Sunday to earn $10,400 second set and was constantly in the finals of the $50,000 trying for winners which I World Championship Tennis made.

Laver was near-perfect all day, putting Rosewall under constant pressure with a wall unable to counter-punch.

Laver, a native of Australia who now resides in Corona Del Mar, Calif., took less than an hour in polishing off 37-year old Ken Rosewall, 6-1, 6-4, to run his season's earnings to $30,900 while becoming the first WCT champion to win three tournaments in a row. Laver started the new year with a victory in Richmond, Va., and followed it up by taking the U.S. Indoor pro championships at Philadelphia third set in the doubles had a last week. "He (Rosewall) was not re-who did not appear overly turning my serve well," said sharp in the final game when Laver, "So I was able to get a little extra on my ground shots his service in the 10th game to

Your Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown you can do pretty much what you want now for your mind is active and alert. You find the right words to state your viewpoints and are therefore most articulate. Your mind is logical and you pierce through anything that has been confusing to you and are able to delight everyone.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact others and state your ideas and aims for mutual betterment. Do not forget to handle your correspondence wisely. Get errands done, keep appointments on time, and plan to produce more in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Monetary affairs do not confuse you so much now and you know how to proceed better in the future. Listen to what advisers have to say, especially concerning property. Use fine common sense to get your life well organized.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can plan for the future in a most clever fashion today so get busy making arrangements right now. Make sure you do support some good philanthropic association. Do not upset one who loves you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Secure the advice and data you need from others now, but be sure you keep it confidential, as requested. Follow that hunch that is accurate. This will help you a very great deal.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Ideal day to get together with admirers and state your aims quietly and well, thereby gaining their assistance. Social activities can be of great help to you now. Don't neglect to do something of a civic nature.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You find the bigwigs will now give you the support you need for whatever is of a career or civic nature. Study new appliances that can make your work more accurate and highly efficient. Learn to save more money, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You get so many excellent new ideas now that it would be well to make a note of them for future use. Talk over with new contact what part he or she can play in some new plan you have in mind. Don't argue with anyone.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are able to get much accomplished today so be sure to plan your time and activities wisely. Some co-worker will give you the cooperation you need, fortunately. Evening is a good time for reading.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you take close ties to places of amusement, you find you will make them happier and understand them better as well. A greater harmony with mate is possible. A little more authority should be exercised for best results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have work to do that can be handled with relative ease and more pleasure than has been possible in the past. Plan your wardrobe properly so you look more attractive and up-to-date. Show others you are kind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have an excellent opportunity to be with congenials now and not only have fun but the chance to talk over what is most on your mind. Interest bigwigs in your finest creative ideas. Think.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't waste time getting going on those duties you have to perform at home, but start them early. Clear up family problems there, also. Entertain in the p.m. and delight others and kin.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those clever young people who can find the right outlets that are easy and fascinating as well as lucrative, so be sure to give an opportunity to express self early and to study what is most desired. Then the profession will be right, giving a chance to combine fine salesmanship here with mental and manual dexterity. Philosophy important early, too.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SNEAK: (Q.) A month ago I sneaked out at 1 o'clock in the morning to see this guy and we got caught at 3 o'clock. I had to sneak out because my parents didn't like him. I was dating him and he told some other kids some things about me, so they made me quit going out with him. I apologized to my parents and promised not to sneak out again. They said I was forgiven. But they won't drop it and let it be. They have to bring it up every time I turn around and I am fed up with it.

Please don't be just on their side. — 17 in Virginia.

(A.) Obviously a two-hour sneak date in the middle of the night was a mistake, and your parents have reason to be upset.

But I see your side as well as theirs.

As time passes and you give them no further reason to distrust you, I believe their suspicions will subside. Tell them now that they have nothing more to worry about. And be sure, by your actions, that they don't.

I feel strongly that trust should not be withheld forever as a result of an episode like yours. I also feel you should use better judgement in the future!

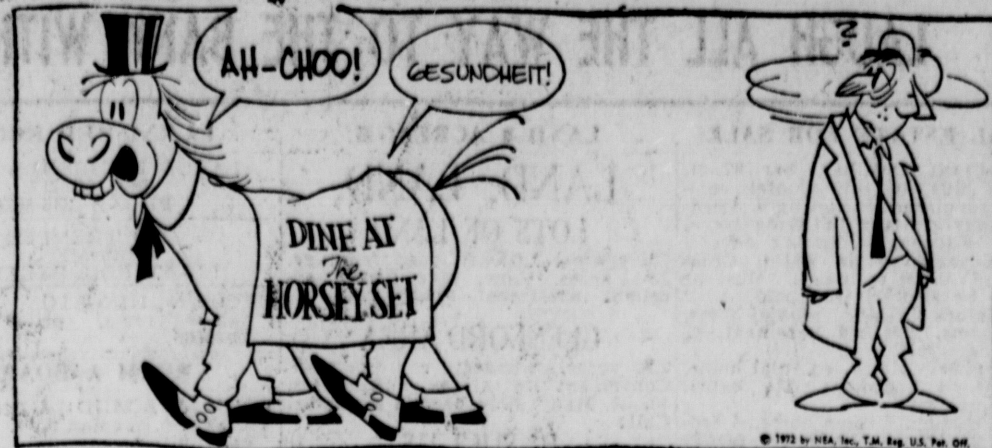

BOBBY SOX: (Q.) Why did girls quit wearing bobby sox? I have seen some old movies of bobby soxers and I like them. Do you think they will ever be popular again? Do you think they would go with the nostalgia look? I don't like nylons. They make girls look too old — Girl Liker in Michigan.

(A.) Bobby sox, like other girls' fashions, had their day and then they went away. They may come back, because, as you say, they have a definite charm. I agree with you that they would add to the nostalgia look.

Right now I am in Australia talking with teen-agers. Girls here are wearing knee sox. They are attractive and might show up in the United States some day.

Good Nixon Peking Coverage

NEW YORK (AP) Live television coverage of the arrival of President Nixon and his party in Peking had for the American viewer Sunday night a little of the quality of the first moon landing coverage—an electronic marvel and an extraordinary event wrapped up in one.

For the American viewer, too, came the unmistakable impression of a formal and correct greeting. There was an honor guard at the air field, but it was a small greeting party. There were no crowds to generate a feeling of excitement. Street scenes showed Peking residents going about their business, not seeming to know or care about the visitor being driven through Tien An Men Square. No crowds lined the route from the airport.

It also appeared that the broadcast journalists knew comparatively little about the plans of the visit and sometimes seemed hard-pressed for something to talk about—two NBC reporters broke in to describe what they had eaten for breakfast.

Pooled coverage by satellite resulted in clear pictures and excellent sound. Maybe the excitement of the assignment will pick up as the visit continues.

The weekend entertainment fronts were rather slow-moving too. The cream of the made-for-TV features was a pilot film for a series reviving that old dime-novel sleuth, Nick Carter.

Nick as played by Robert Conrad, was a turn-of-the-century New York private eye. The only thing that made it different from run-of-the-mill private eye series was the period—horses and buggies, horseless carriages, and Victorian decor. Plus Nick's penchant for disguising himself while detecting.

His pursuit of a killer led him into the family of a robber baron. Shelley Winters played the madam of an entertainment establishment. What with corrupt cops, venal rich scions and ladies of easy virtue, just about the only good guys were Nick and his girl secretary. It was rather silly and not very well done.

Two other pilots turned up Friday night. There was NBC's "Evil Roy Slade", two interminable hours of the broadest possible comedy.

"I urge you to protect your family with this $600 a month extra cash plan"

Send no money—just mail Enrollment Form to start your coverage of up to $600 a month extra cash

when you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness

NO AGE LIMIT • NO HEALTH QUESTIONS • NO SALESMAN WILL CALL

Start Protection At No Charge

We have a great family insurance policy for you. It pays at the rate of $600 a month—$20 a day for adults ($360 a month for covered children) for as long as they stay in the hospital for any covered accident or illness.

If you're 65 or over, you're paid $420 a month in benefits, but only for your first three months in the hospital. From then on, you collect full benefits of $600 a month.

To attract as many new policyholders as possible, we offer you coverage without charge, while you're inspecting your policy. The National Home policy has very few *ifs, and*s or buts. You can understand it in just a few minutes. There's a chance that someone in your family will go to the hospital this year. If it happens to you, you'll find our benefits a godsend.

Extra Cash Paid Direct

This money is paid directly to you—not to any doctor or hospital. If you have bills to pay, you decide who gets paid first. If you're free and clear, you can put the money in the bank. And furthermore, our lawyers tell us this money is free from income taxes.

Regular Hospitalization Insurance May Not Be Enough

Do you have group insurance where you work? A Blue Cross Hospitalization Plan? A P'ue Shield Medical Plan? Major Medical? Or are you on Medicare? You'll find, when you go to the hospital, that some policies like these may not pay all of your bills.

Our policy will pay you up to $20 a day for some of the expenses your other insurance may not cover when you are hospitalized.

Take Medicare. When you are hospitalized there is a $68 Hospital deductible and a $50 Medical deductible. Then there is 80-20 co-insurance on the Medical portion of your hospital bill (they pay 80% of the bill and you pay 20%). Finally, there are maximum allowances for each type of medical service. If a doctor charges more than the allowance—as many do—you have to pay the difference.

Our policy will help to pay for some of these expenses.

This National Home Policy Never Runs Out

If you were hospitalized today, would you know what your hospital coverage pays? Would you know if your present policies have a maximum benefit... a 1 to 2 year time limit... or any other such limiting features? Because some policies have these limitations... what would a long hospital stay do to your finances?

Our policy, however, pays you cash at the rate of $600 a month—even for the rest of your life, if need be.

Get Started Now

Most important, though, is that it costs nothing to start your coverage for you and your entire family. Simply fill out and mail the official Enrollment Form. When your policy arrives, study it. If you like it, pay the first month's premium within 10 days of its effective date. Then, even if you are hospitalized during your inspection period, your policy will already be in force.

If you decide not to send in your first month's premium within those 10 days, you will not have coverage, and there is no further obligation.

Here's what we pay (over and above Medicare and all other insurance)

If you're under 65

$600 a month—$20 a day—when you go to the hospital, starting from the very first day of confinement for any covered accident or illness. Payments continue as long as you are hospitalized—for life if necessary.

—PLUS—

$360 a month cash—$12 a day—when a covered child (one month through 18 years) goes to the hospital for any covered accident or illness. Payments continue as long as the child is in the hospital.

All your premiums after you, the policyholder, have been confined by a covered hospitalization for 8 weeks in a row. We pay the premiums for your entire family plus your monthly benefits until you leave the hospital. We pay them for life if necessary.

If you're 65 or older

$420 a month cash—$14 a day—when you go to the hospital for any covered accident or illness, starting from the very first day of confinement. Payments continue for three months, then become...

Dear Friend:

You know me. I wouldn't recommend anything I didn't honestly believe in. And I think National Home's $600-a-month plan is just about the best additional financial protection you can give your family—especially in these days of rising medical costs.

That's why I'm happy to give this plan my wholehearted endorsement.

I've looked over the policy very carefully. I've made a point of getting to know some of the folks at National Home. And you won't find more decent, friendly people.

That's why I cannot imagine anybody passing up the chance to enroll in this health plan.

We all know what a terrible thing it is to be hospitalized. But what a relief it is to know there's extra cash coming in when you need it most! Take my advice. Send the enrollment form below now—before you forget.

Sincerely,

Art Linkletter

$600 a month cash—$20 a day—for as long as you're hospitalized—for life if need be.

—PLUS—

$360 a month cash—$12 a day—when a covered child (one month through 18 years) goes to the hospital—the same benefit as for policyholders under 65.

All your premiums after you, the policyholder, have been confined by a covered hospitalization for 8 weeks in a row—the same benefit as for policyholders under 65.

Here's what we don't pay

You are not covered for care in U.S. Government hospitals or nursing, convalescent, rehabilitation or extended care, alcoholic or narcotic facilities, a place for the aged, a tuberculosis sanatorium, or for hospitalizations due to:

1. Pre-existing conditions you had before the policy effective date if that condition causing the confinement was manifested within 1 year prior to the effective date of the policy (during the first 2 years only). Meanwhile every new condition is covered.
2. War or Act of War.
3. Mental disorder.
4. Pregnancy or miscarriage.

Here's what you pay

NOTE: These rates will not go up as you get older. They will not go up if you make frequent claims or large claims. Nor can the company cancel your policy for these or any other reasons. Only a statewide adjustment (up or down) of all policies like yours can ever change your rate. And no one can cancel this policy but you.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly premium* Per Adult
16-44	$4.90
45-49	5.60
50-54	6.30
55-74	7.00
75-79	8.50
80-84	9.90
85-89	10.60
90 and over	11.40

Add $2.70* per month to cover all unmarried, dependent children under 19. Newborn children are covered automatically at 1 month at no extra charge.

*All premiums lower if paid in advance quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

No catch to these rates

When you see premiums like these, you'd suspect that the policy is full of clauses that make payouts few and far between. This is not the case.

Look high and low through the provisions set forth in the policy. Let your lawyer or insurance agent help. You'll find no unusual exclusions.

Indeed, we feel that this plan's payout provisions are among the most liberal available. For example:

- We pay benefits on Workmen's Compensation cases. Many policies don't.
- We pay benefits for life if necessary. Many policies have a 1-year or 2-year limit.
- We pay up to $20 a day for as long as you are confined—even for life.
- We continue your insurance regardless of age. Some policies cancel you after a certain age.
- We excuse you from paying premiums when you are hospitalized longer than 8 weeks in a row. Most policies don't.

How then are these rates possible?

This special plan is offered by National Home Assurance Company of New York which is licensed by the State of New York.

We sell insurance by mail. And administer it by mail. And have cut the cost of contacting you down to postage stamp size.

Your neighborhood letter carrier makes it all possible. He delivers more insurance for your money. And you don't even pay him a commission.
